

The Link – August for September

Hello – here we are again back at school for another exciting year with children eager to learn and teachers ready to help.

We have made a few changes over the summer with teachers and teaching assistants moving classroom and working with different year groups. Before we broke up all the children spent time in their new groups doing all sorts of exciting activities and getting to know each other as this helps them to feel confident and happy. Of course new classes means fresh challenges but we think challenge is a positive attitude and we use it to bring out the best in our children and staff.

We have also planned some exciting developments to our outside area towards the rear of the school. The Early Years and KS1 unit will soon have a reading pod, a bug house, new seating and an extended covered area. There are also plans for a mud kitchen! The funds for some of this work come from our excellent PTFA – to whom we are very grateful.

As you all know there is now a new Minister for Education, Justine Greening, so we wait with baited breath to find out what may be coming next! Whatever it is our mission to inspire children to learn does not change – they are why Offwell School is still a great learning environment.

Come and see us.
