The start of a new school year is always exciting and this term at Offwell School it is even more so, as our new Headteacher takes up the reins. Governors, staff, parents and children are all excited about the opportunity to work with Mrs Legg; someone with such great experience who embodies all our Core Values.

Mrs Legg said, "On my first day as Headteacher of Offwell I was delighted to see how many children were waiting eagerly at the gate; the children at least as keen to start school as parents were for them to start! I have been a teacher for 20 years and still enjoy the experience of working with young minds – watching them grow and develop under our care. There are continuous changes in education today and all of them bring fresh challenges and opportunities. What I never forget though, is to look at how any alterations in curriculum or policy will affect the children and what is the best way for our school to implement change positively.

I am proud to be the new Headteacher at Offwell, which is a well-established, caring and successful village school. As you all know, Offwell is a village church school, embedded in the local community, but with a broad and inclusive outlook. We benefit from a wealth of natural resources, as we live in the beautiful Blackdown Hills (A.O.N.B) and regularly go down to Offwell Woods for our outdoor learning. However, we also enjoy close and productive links with our local schools, both in Honiton and as part of our wider Learning Community and we celebrate our strong global links.

Our school has strong Core Values which underpin all that we do, to ensure the wellbeing of the whole school community. As a result, Offwell Primary has a tremendously positive atmosphere, with experienced, motivated and caring staff and kind, enthusiastic and creative children. I look forward to leading our whole school community to greater success over the next school year."
